

Norma E. McAvoy

October 30, 1936 - March 17, 2021

Norma McAvoy is best defined by her strength, courage and wisdom.

Throughout her life, Norma lived with many medical issues, but she didn't let them define her. She lived independently most of her life.

Norma of Issaquah, Washington, passed away at age 84 on March 17.

She was diagnosed with rheumatoid arthritis in her early 40s. Although she endured years of physical challenges and pain, her strength, wisdom and courage shined through.

Norma always provided sage advice. She didn't complain and treated others with kindness. She was known as caring, loving and tough, with a dry sense of humor.

Her greatest joy was spending time with her daughter, Julie McAvoy. Together, they enjoyed shopping, especially for clothes, and visiting the Japanese Garden within the Washington Park Arboretum in Seattle, Washington.

Over the years, Norma's hobbies included tole painting, decorating and interior design, and buying, fixing up and selling houses. She also enjoyed cooking and loved baking cookies and holiday treats.

Norma lived in a variety of places – from East Peoria, Illinois, and Brownwood, Texas, to Scottsdale, Arizona, and, most recently, Issaquah, Washington.

Norma Eileen McAvoy was born to Norman and Lila Gerrish on October 30, 1936, in Sandoval, Illinois. She married Richard Lloyd McAvoy on February 24, 1957. He preceded her in death on April 19, 1989. Norma was also preceded in death by her brother, Raymond Gerrish.

Norma is survived by her daughter, Julie, and her husband, Craig Trueblood, of Kirkland, Washington, and Palm Springs, California, as well as her sister, Debbie Engel, and her husband, Jerry Engel, of Indianola, Washington.

A graveside service will be held at Fon Du Lac Cemetery in East Peoria, Illinois, on Friday, March 26, at 11:00 AM.

Gary Deiters Funeral Home & Cremation Services is assisting the family. Online condolences may be left at <http://www.GaryDeitersFH.com>.

“ As our circle of friends and loved one shrink, we grieve and then we recall the great times. I have great memories over the years that include Norma and Dick, plus Julie. Norma's positive attitude regarding her life and physical ailments always touched my heart. And now my heart goes out to you (Julie) for being such a great daughter and outstanding caregiver, you have earned your wings.

With Deepest Sympathy
