*You past 6 years ago today. Life hasn't been the same. We all miss you and want you to know that we are doing good but would be doing so much better if you were here! There is so much going on that we wish you could be a part of, and so many things we want to tell you. When I was told you didn't make it my heart skipped a beat, my best friend, my grandma, and our family's structure was gone. That was the hardest day of my life. My favorite memory of you is when we would draw together, and our drawing would end up nothing like we meant for them to look like. There is so many more memories that I may not remember but I know they will always mean something to me. I love you so much and since I never got to say it I'm going to say it now, "goodbye, grandma", "I love you"
Love your granddaughter,
Jocelyn❤️*

“ Sherry is my cousin and I remember playing with her and her sisters and brothers as a very young child and my love for her has never strayed far from our memories together. Over the years we've seen each other occasionally at her work place or her home when her mother came to visit. We had talked over the phone occasionally in the past few years but most recently she and her beautiful family came to our family reunion at my home a year ago and it was as though we had always been together even though the years had separated us. Sherry never lost her beautiful smile and presence, of kindness through her illness and the feeling of love between us was just as strong.. I am so grateful our parents created such a loving family bond between us May God wrap his arms around her beautiful family and comfort them knowing her spirit will always live within their hearts and that someday we will all be together again in the presence of our savior.
